NOTES TO CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
(Unaudited)

Note 1. Basis of Presentation

Our unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements have been prepared under the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission, or the SEC, and in accordance with the requirements of reorganization accounting. See Note 2 for more information. While these financial statements do not include all of the information and footnotes required by accounting principles generally accepted in the United States for complete financial statements, they reflect all adjustments that, in the opinion of management, are necessary for a fair presentation of the results for interim periods. In addition, the year-end condensed consolidated balance sheet data was derived from audited financial statements, but does not include all disclosures required by accounting principles generally accepted in the United States.

You should read these condensed consolidated financial statements in conjunction with the consolidated financial statements and notes contained in our annual report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2014. You should not expect results of operations for interim periods to be an indication of the results for a full year.

Sale of Nextel Mexico. On January 26, 2015, NII Holdings, Inc. and certain of its subsidiaries entered into a purchase and sale agreement with an indirect subsidiary of AT&T, Inc., or AT&T, for the sale of our operations in Mexico, which we refer to as Nextel Mexico, for a purchase price of $1.875 billion in cash, less Nextel Mexico's outstanding debt, net of its cash balances on the closing date, and subject to other specified adjustments. On April 30, 2015, the sale of Nextel Mexico was completed. After deducting Nextel Mexico's outstanding indebtedness, net of its cash balances, and applying estimates of other specified purchase price adjustments at closing, we received $1.448 billion in net proceeds, including $187.5 million in proceeds that were placed into escrow to secure specified indemnity obligations. As of March 31, 2015, as a result of pending regulatory approvals, we determined that the sale of Nextel Mexico was not probable and therefore did not account for Nextel Mexico as a discontinued operation in this quarterly report on Form 10-Q.

Reclassifications. We have reclassified some prior period amounts in our condensed consolidated financial statements to conform to our current year presentation.

New Accounting Pronouncements. There were no new accounting standards issued during the three months ended March 31, 2015 that materially impacted our condensed consolidated financial statements or could materially impact our financial statements or related disclosures in a future period.

Note 2. Chapter 11 Proceedings

Overview.

On September 15, 2014, NII Holdings, Inc. and eight of its U.S. and Luxembourg-domiciled subsidiaries, including NII Capital Corp. and Nextel International Telecom, S.C.A, or NIIT, filed voluntary petitions seeking relief under Chapter 11 of Title 11 of the United States Bankruptcy Code, which we refer to as Chapter 11, in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of New York, which we refer to as the Bankruptcy Court. Since September 15, 2014, five additional subsidiaries of NII Holdings, Inc. have filed voluntary petitions seeking relief under Chapter 11 in the Bankruptcy Court, with four subsidiaries filing on October 8, 2014 and one subsidiary filing on January 25, 2015. The entities that have filed petitions seeking relief under Chapter 11, which we refer to collectively as the debtors, continue to operate as "debtors-in-possession" under the jurisdiction of the Bankruptcy Court and in accordance with the applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code and orders of the Bankruptcy Court. Our operating subsidiaries in Brazil, Mexico and Argentina are not debtors in the Chapter 11 cases.

Under Chapter 11, we are permitted to continue to operate our business and manage our properties in the ordinary course of business without prior approval from the Bankruptcy Court. Transactions outside the ordinary course of business proposed to be undertaken by any of the debtors, including certain types of capital expenditures, as well as certain sales of assets, certain requests for additional financings and certain other arrangements, including material changes to agreements and employee compensation arrangements, require approval by the Bankruptcy Court. There can be no assurance that the Bankruptcy Court will grant any requests for such approvals. On October 14, 2014, the Bankruptcy Court issued a final order permitting us to pay pre-petition salaries, wages and benefits to all employees of our debtor entities and authorized the payment of certain other pre-petition claims, in limited circumstances, to avoid undue disruption to our operations.

On November 24, 2014, certain of the holders of the senior notes issued by NII Capital Corp. and NIIT, certain other creditors and the official committee of unsecured creditors appointed in the Chapter 11 cases, which we refer to as the Committee, reached agreement regarding the terms of a plan of reorganization, which we refer to as the Original Plan, and the debtors, consenting parties and the Committee entered into a plan support agreement, which we refer to as the Original PSA, that governed the respective parties' obligations in connection with the formulation and filing of, and the solicitation of votes with respect to, the Original Plan. The Original Plan and a related disclosure statement were filed with the Bankruptcy Court on December 22, 2014. On January 26, 2015, NII Holdings, Inc. and certain of its subsidiaries entered into a purchase and sale agreement providing for the sale of Nextel Mexico to AT&T. Because the proposed sale of Nextel Mexico was inconsistent with the terms of the Original PSA and the Original Plan, NII Holdings, Inc. exercised its right to terminate the Original PSA.

NII HOLDINGS, INC. (DEBTOR-IN-POSSESSION) AND SUBSIDIARIES

On March 5, 2015, certain of the debtors, holders of approximately $1.93 billion, or 70%, of the senior notes issued by NII Capital Corp. and approximately $1.15 billion, or 72%, of the senior notes issued by NIIT, which we refer to collectively as the Consenting Creditors, and the Committee reached agreement regarding the terms of a revised plan of reorganization, which we refer to as the Revised Plan, that takes into account the impact of the sale of Nextel Mexico. Certain debtors, the Consenting Creditors and the Committee entered into a Revised PSA that governs the respective parties' obligations in connection with the formulation, filing and solicitation of votes with respect to the Revised Plan. The Revised Plan was filed with the Bankruptcy Court on March 13, 2015, and on April 20, 2015, the Bankruptcy Court approved the distribution of a related disclosure statement in connection with the solicitation of votes to approve the Revised Plan. The Revised Plan provides for, among other things, the distribution of a portion of the net proceeds of the sale of Nextel Mexico to holders of the senior notes issued by NII Capital Corp. and NIIT and for the conversion of the remaining balance of these senior notes into equity interests in the reorganized company. The Revised Plan also includes a settlement of certain estate claims and claims related to the purported release of certain guarantees of our NII Capital Corp. senior notes due 2016 and 2019. The terms of the Revised PSA and the Revised Plan do not provide for any return of value to equity holders. In addition, the Revised PSA requires, among other things, (i) the plan proponents to file and solicit votes on the Revised Plan; (ii) the consenting parties to vote in favor of and otherwise support the Revised Plan; and (iii) the parties thereto to use commercially reasonable efforts to obtain confirmation of the Revised Plan and consummate the transactions contemplated under the plan term sheet that is part of the Revised PSA. The Revised PSA may be terminated under various circumstances, including if the Revised Plan is not confirmed by specified dates.

As contemplated by the Revised PSA, and in order to provide us with the additional liquidity necessary to fund our business plan until the completion of the sale of Nextel Mexico, NIIT received the approval of the Bankruptcy Court to enter into a debtor-in-possession, or DIP, loan agreement with certain lenders who were also creditors in the Chapter 11 proceedings. Loans under the DIP loan agreement were guaranteed by NII Holdings, Inc. and certain of its subsidiaries that are also debtors-in-possession under the Chapter 11 proceedings. On March 24, 2015, NIIT borrowed $350.0 million in the form of a non-revolving loan agreement. On April 30, 2015, we completed the sale of Nextel Mexico and used a portion of the net proceeds received from this sale to repay all outstanding principal and interest in full.

The accompanying condensed consolidated financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis, which contemplates the realization of assets and the satisfaction of liabilities in the normal course of business. The circumstances leading to our decision to seek relief under Chapter 11 and their impact on our business, including on our liquidity and the uncertainties associated with the Chapter 11 process, in combination with the potential impact of our failure to satisfy certain financial covenants under our existing debt obligations, raise substantial doubt about our ability to continue as a going concern. See Note 6 for more information on financial covenants. These condensed consolidated financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of any of the uncertainties described herein.

Liabilities Subject to Compromise.

We have segregated liabilities and obligations whose treatment and satisfaction are dependent on the outcome of our reorganization in the Chapter 11 proceedings and have classified these items as liabilities subject to compromise. Generally, all actions to enforce or otherwise effect repayment of pre-petition liabilities of the debtors, as well as all pending litigation against the debtors, are stayed while we are subject to the Chapter 11 proceedings. The ultimate amount of and settlement terms for these types of liabilities will be subject to the claims resolution processes in the Chapter 11 cases and the terms of any plan of reorganization confirmed by the Bankruptcy Court in the Chapter 11 cases. Only those liabilities that are obligations of the debtors (and not the obligations of our operating subsidiaries that are not debtors in the Chapter 11 cases) are included in liabilities subject to compromise. These liabilities subject to compromise may vary significantly from the stated amounts of claims filed with the Bankruptcy Court. Obligations classified as liabilities subject to compromise may be subject to future adjustments depending on the decisions of the Bankruptcy Court in the Chapter 11 cases, further developments with respect to potential disputed claims and/or determination as to the value of any collateral securing claims or other events. Further, additional claims may arise subsequent to the Chapter 11 filing date resulting from the rejection of executory contracts and from a determination by the Bankruptcy Court, or agreed to by parties in interest, of allowed claims for contingencies and other disputed amounts.

NII HOLDINGS, INC. (DEBTOR-IN-POSSESSION) AND SUBSIDIARIES

We report interest expense incurred subsequent to our Chapter 11 filing date only to the extent that it will be paid during the cases or that it is probable that it will be an allowed claim. Principal and interest payments may not be made on pre-petition debt subject to compromise without approval from the Bankruptcy Court or until a plan of reorganization defining the repayment terms, if any, has been confirmed. Further, the Bankruptcy Code generally disallows the payment of post-petition interest that accrues with respect to unsecured or undersecured claims. As a result, we have not accrued interest that we believe is not probable of being treated as an allowed claim in the Chapter 11 cases. As a result, during the three months ended March 31, 2015, we did not accrue interest aggregating $101.4 million on our NII Capital Corp. and NIIT senior notes subsequent to our Chapter 11 filing date.

As of March 31, 2015, we classified the entire principal balance of our NII Capital Corp. and NIIT senior notes, as well as interest that was accrued and due but unpaid prior to our Chapter 11 filing date, as liabilities subject to compromise in accordance with the requirements of reorganization accounting since these notes are obligations of debtor entities. The components of our liabilities subject to compromise are as follows (in thousands):

	March 31, 2015
7.625% Capital Corp. senior notes due 2021	$ 1,450,000
8.875% Capital Corp. senior notes due 2019	500,000
10.0% Capital Corp. senior notes due 2016	800,000
7.875% NII International Telecom S.C.A. senior notes due 2019	700,000
11.375% NII International Telecom S.C.A. senior notes due 2019	900,000
Total debt subject to compromise	4,350,000
Accrued interest on debt subject to compromise	203,010
Accounts payable	4,038
Accrued expenses and other	34,654
Total liabilities subject to compromise	$ 4,591,702

Reorganization Items.

We classify all income, expenses, gains or losses that are incurred or realized as a result of the commencement of the Chapter 11 cases as reorganization items in our condensed consolidated statements of comprehensive loss. In addition, we report professional fees and related costs associated with and incurred during the Chapter 11 cases as reorganization items. We also reclassify interest income earned by the debtors that would not have been earned but for our Chapter 11 filing as reorganization items. During the first quarter of 2015, we recognized $13.6 million in professional fees and other costs related to our Chapter 11 filing as reorganization items.

In accordance with the requirements of reorganization accounting, the following are condensed combined financial statements of the debtor entities:

We did not have any non-cash investing or financing activities during the three months ended March 31, 2015. For the three months ended March 31, 2014, we had $45.2 million in non-cash financing activities related to borrowings under our equipment financing facility in Mexico.

Revenue-Based Taxes. We record revenue-based taxes and other excise taxes on a gross basis as a component of both service and other revenues and selling, general and administrative expenses in our condensed consolidated financial statements. For the three months ended March 31, 2015, we recognized $23.5 million in revenue-based taxes and other excise taxes. For the three months ended March 31, 2014, we recognized $31.1 million in revenue-based taxes and other excise taxes.

Diluted Net Loss Per Common Share. As presented for the three months ended March 31, 2015 and 2014, our calculation of diluted net loss from continuing operations per common share is based on the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during those periods and does not include other potential common shares, including shares issuable upon the potential exercise of stock options under our stock-based employee compensation plans or restricted common shares issued under those plans since their effect would have been antidilutive to our net loss from continuing operations per common share for those periods. For the three months ended March 31, 2015, we did not include 5.3 million stock options and 0.7 million in shares of restricted stock for the period in our calculation of diluted net loss from continuing operations per common share because their effect would have been antidilutive. For the three months ended March 31, 2014, we did not include 47.4 million stock options and 33.6 million

Sale of Nextel Chile. In August 2014, our wholly-owned subsidiaries NII Mercosur Telecom, S.L., NII Mercosur Moviles, S.L. and NII International Telecom S.C.A. completed the sale of all of the outstanding equity interests of our wholly-owned subsidiary, Nextel Chile S.A., or Nextel Chile, to Fucata, S.A., a venture comprised of Grupo Veintitres and Optimum Advisors, for a de minimus amount.

Sale of Nextel Peru. In August 2013, our wholly-owned subsidiaries NII Mercosur Telecom, S.L. and NII Mercosur Moviles, S.L., completed the sale of all of the outstanding equity interests of our wholly-owned subsidiary, Nextel del Peru, S.A., or Nextel Peru, to Empresa Nacional de Telecomunicaciones S.A. and one of its subsidiaries, Entel Inversiones, S.A., which we refer to collectively as Entel. During the first quarter of 2014, we recognized an immaterial amount of income related to Nextel Peru.

In connection with the sale of Nextel Chile, we have reported the results of this operating company as discontinued operations in this quarterly report on Form 10-Q. Accordingly, we reclassified Nextel Chile's results of operations for all periods presented to reflect Nextel Chile as discontinued operations. Unless otherwise noted, amounts included in these notes to our condensed consolidated financial statements exclude amounts attributable to discontinued operations. The major components of loss from discontinued operations related to Nextel Chile were as follows (in thousands):

Chapter 11 Filing. On September 15, 2014, NII Holdings, Inc. and eight of its U.S. and Luxembourg-domiciled subsidiaries, including NII Capital Corp. and NIIT, filed voluntary petitions seeking relief under Chapter 11 in the Bankruptcy Court. Since September 15, 2014, five additional subsidiaries of NII Holdings, Inc. have filed voluntary petitions seeking relief under Chapter 11 in the Bankruptcy Court, with four subsidiaries filing on October 8, 2014 and one subsidiary filing on January 25, 2015. The Chapter 11 proceedings of one of those subsidiaries were dismissed on April 30, 2015 in connection with the completion of the sale of Nextel Mexico.

These filings constituted an event of default under the NII Capital Corp. and NIIT senior notes; however, the holders of these senior notes are currently precluded from taking any action with respect to such events of default under the Bankruptcy Code. The Revised Plan, which remains subject to creditor and Bankruptcy Court approval, contemplates that these senior notes will be canceled in exchange for the distributions provided for in the Revised Plan. As a result of the commencement of the Chapter 11 cases, the obligations evidenced by the NII Capital Corp. and NIIT senior notes are included in liabilities subject to compromise on our condensed consolidated balance sheet as of March 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014. See Note 2 for more information. The financings included in the table below are considered not subject to compromise.

Debtor-in-Possession Loan.

On March 23, 2015, NIIT received the approval of the Bankruptcy Court to enter into a DIP loan agreement with certain lenders who were also creditors in the Chapter 11 proceedings. Loans under the DIP loan agreement were guaranteed by NII Holdings, Inc. and certain of its subsidiaries that are also debtors-in-possession under the Chapter 11 proceedings. On March 24, 2015, NIIT borrowed $350.0 million in the form of a non-revolving loan under this loan agreement, which we recorded as current portion of long-term debt on our condensed consolidated balance sheet as of March 31, 2015. We received $339.4 million in net proceeds after deducting $9.6 million in original issue discount and lender fees and $1.0 million in transaction costs. On April 30, 2015, we used a portion of the net proceeds received from the sale of Nextel Mexico to repay all outstanding principal and interest under this loan.

Bank Loans.

As of the December 31, 2014 measurement date, we were not in compliance with the net debt financial covenants included in each of Nextel Brazil's outstanding local bank loans. In February 2015, Nextel Brazil and the lenders providing the local bank loans entered into standstill agreements under which the lenders agreed that they would not seek remedies under the provisions of the agreements related to Nextel Brazil's failure to satisfy the financial covenants in the loan agreements in the period before September 15, 2015 and that further principal repayment obligations due between the signing date and September 15, 2015 would be suspended. In addition, the standstill agreements formally commit the lenders to sign amendments, which we refer to as the second amendments, that implement permanent amendments to the terms of the local bank loans, including with respect to the financial covenants and principal repayment schedule for these loans. Among others, the signing of the second amendments is subject to the following conditions:

- our emergence from the Chapter 11 proceedings on or prior to September 15, 2015;
- the absence of an insolvency event involving Nextel Brazil;
- the absence of events of default other than those waived or suspended in the standstill agreements; and
- the execution of agreements subordinating any amounts due under intercompany loans between NIIT and Nextel Brazil.

If one or more of the conditions listed above is not met, the lenders providing the local bank loans will not be required to enter into the second amendments and will have the right to terminate the standstill agreement and exercise all remedies under the agreements in place, including but not limited to declaring an event of default for noncompliance with the financial covenants and/or nonpayment of amounts due under the repayment schedule. Following the declaration of an event of default, the lenders have the right to accelerate the loans and proceed with claims against the collateral. Because we were not in compliance with the financial covenants at the most recent measurement date and the second amendments have not yet been executed pursuant to the standstill agreements, we classified the principal amounts outstanding under these local bank loans as current liabilities in our condensed consolidated balance sheet as of March 31, 2015.

Concurrent with the execution of the standstill agreements, Nextel Brazil and the lenders entered into amendments to the agreements relating to the local bank loans, which we refer to as the first amendments, under which Nextel Brazil granted the lenders a security interest over amounts held at any given time in certain collection accounts maintained with each lender. These first amendments also increase the interest margin on the loans from approximately 115% of the local Brazilian borrowing rate to approximately 140% of this local rate.

Equipment Financing Facilities.

In December 2014, Nextel Brazil and Nextel Mexico and the lender under the equipment financing facilities agreed to amendments to those facilities that removed all financial covenants beginning with the December 31, 2014 measurement date and continuing through the June 30, 2017 measurement date. In exchange for that covenant relief, Nextel Brazil granted the lender of its equipment financing facility preferential rights to the amounts held in certain bank accounts, and Nextel Mexico's parent company, Nextel International Uruguay, LLC, granted the lender of its equipment financing facility a pledge on the shares it holds in Nextel Mexico. In addition, Nextel Brazil has the option to defer principal amortization payments in exchange for an upfront payment of 17% of the amounts outstanding under its equipment financing facility as of August 31, 2014. As a result of the amendment of our equipment financing facility in Mexico, we classified the principal amount outstanding under this facility as long-term debt in our condensed consolidated balance sheet as of March 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014. Because of certain cross-default provisions included in our equipment financing facility in Brazil, we classified the principal amount outstanding under this facility as a current liability in our condensed consolidated balance sheet as of March 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014. We do not have the ability to borrow additional amounts under these equipment financing facilities.

On April 30, 2015, in connection with the sale of Nextel Mexico, we repaid all amounts outstanding under its equipment financing facility, and the pledge of shares in Nextel Mexico and the other security interests granted to secure Nextel Mexico's obligations under the equipment financing facility were released. See Note 12 for more information on the sale of Nextel Mexico.

Note 7. Fair Value Measurements

Financial Instruments.

Available-for-Sale Securities.

As of March 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014, available-for-sale securities included $100.5 million and $110.1 million, respectively, in short-term investments made by Nextel Brazil in two investment funds and certificates of deposit with a Brazilian bank. These funds invest primarily in Brazilian government bonds, long-term, low-risk bank certificates of deposit and Brazilian corporate debentures. As of March 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014, available-for-sale securities also included $45.0 million and $43.5 million, respectively, in short-term investments made by Nextel Argentina in local money market funds. All of these securities are either government or corporate rated bonds with underlying performance linked to the U.S. dollar. During the three months ended March 31, 2015 and 2014, we did not have any material unrealized gains or losses associated with these investments.

We account for our available-for-sale securities at fair value in accordance with the FASB's authoritative guidance surrounding the accounting for investments in debt and equity securities. The fair value of the Brazilian securities is based on the net asset value of the funds. The fair value of the certificates of deposit held at the corporate level is based on quoted market prices for the individual instruments. In our judgment, both of these types of securities trade with sufficient daily observable market activity to support a Level 1 classification within the fair value hierarchy.

Debt Instruments.

The carrying amounts and estimated fair values of our debt instruments are as follows:

	March 31, 2015		December 31, 2014
	Carrying Amount	Estimated Fair Value	Carrying Amount	Estimated Fair Value
	(in thousands)

	$ 5,666,206	$ 3,906,029	$ 5,385,099	$ 2,710,778

(1) As of March 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014, both our senior notes held by NII Capital Corp. and our senior notes held by NII International Telecom S.C.A. are classified as liabilities subject to compromise in our condensed consolidated balance sheet.

We estimated the fair values of our senior notes using quoted market prices. Because our fair value measurement is based on market prices in an active market, we consider this Level 1 in the fair value hierarchy.

Bank loans and other consists primarily of loans with certain banks in Brazil. We estimated the fair value of these bank loans, as well as the fair value of our equipment financing, utilizing inputs such as U.S. Treasury security yield curves, prices of comparable bonds, LIBOR and zero-coupon yield curves, U.S. Treasury bond rates and credit spreads on comparable publicly traded bonds and consider these measurements to be Level 2 in the fair value hierarchy.

Derivative Instruments.

We occasionally enter into derivative transactions for risk management purposes. We have not and will not enter into any derivative transactions for speculative or profit generating purposes. We record all derivative instruments as either assets or liabilities on our balance sheet at their fair value. As of March 31, 2015, Nextel Brazil had $11.6 million in derivative instruments that were classified as short-term investments on our condensed consolidated balance sheet, and we consider this measurement to be Level 3 in the fair value hierarchy. Nextel Brazil entered into foreign currency option agreements to manage the foreign currency exposures associated with the forecasted purchase of handsets and other U.S. dollar-denominated payments. We do not apply hedge accounting to these derivative instruments. As a result, we have included all changes in the fair value of these instruments as a component of other income (expense), net on our condensed consolidated statement of comprehensive loss. For the three months ended March

NII HOLDINGS, INC. (DEBTOR-IN-POSSESSION) AND SUBSIDIARIES
(Unaudited)

31, 2015, Nextel Brazil recognized unrealized gains of $9.9 million from the changes in the estimated fair value of its derivative instruments and an immaterial amount of realized gains. The gains and losses recognized in the three months ended March 31, 2014 were not material.

Other Financial Instruments.

The carrying values of cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable and accounts payable contained in our condensed consolidated balance sheets approximate their fair values due to the short-term nature of these instruments.

Note 8. Commitments and Contingencies

Brazilian Contingencies.

Nextel Brazil has received various assessment notices from state and federal Brazilian authorities asserting deficiencies in payments related primarily to value-added taxes, excise taxes on imported equipment and other non-income based taxes. Nextel Brazil has filed various administrative and legal petitions disputing these assessments. In some cases, Nextel Brazil has received favorable decisions, which are currently being appealed by the respective governmental authority. In other cases, Nextel Brazil's petitions have been denied, and Nextel Brazil is currently appealing those decisions. Nextel Brazil also had contingencies related to certain regulatory, civil and labor-related matters as of March 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014.

As of March 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014, Nextel Brazil had accrued liabilities of $58.2 million and $69.7 million, respectively, related to contingencies, all of which were reported as a component of other long-term liabilities, of which $5.5 million and $8.0 million related to unasserted claims, respectively. We currently estimate the reasonably possible losses related to matters for which Nextel Brazil has not accrued liabilities, as they are not deemed probable, to be approximately $300.0 million as of March 31, 2015. We evaluate the likelihood of probable and reasonably possible losses, if any, related to all known contingencies on an ongoing basis. As a result, future increases or decreases to our accrued liabilities may be necessary and will be recorded in the period when such amounts are determined to be probable and reasonably estimable.

Legal Proceedings.

Securities Litigation. On March 4, 2014, a purported class action lawsuit was filed against the Company, NII Capital Corp. and certain of the Company's current and former directors and executive officers in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia on behalf of a putative class of persons who purchased or otherwise acquired the securities of the Company or NII Capital Corp. between February 25, 2010 and February 27, 2014. The lawsuit is captioned In re NII Holdings, Inc. Securities Litigation, Case Number 14-CV-227. On July 18, 2014, the parties that have been designated as the lead plaintiffs in the lawsuit filed a second amended complaint against only NII Holdings and three current and former officers, which generally alleges that the defendants made false or misleading statements or concealed material adverse information about the Company's financial condition and operations in violation of Section 10(b), Rule 10b-5 and Section 20(a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. The complaint seeks class certification and unspecified damages, fees and injunctive relief. On September 22, 2014, the judge issued an order staying all proceedings against the Company following the Company's filing of its petition for relief under Chapter 11. On October 6, 2014, the Company's and the individual defendants' motion to dismiss was denied, and the case is currently continuing as to the remaining individual defendants. On November 3, 2014, at the request of the parties, the court ordered that the case against the three individual defendants be stayed indefinitely, and on January 7, 2015, the court extended the stay until the earlier of May 22, 2015 or the effective date of a plan of reorganization. The Company and the named individuals will continue to vigorously defend themselves in this matter.

Chapter 11 Proceedings. On September 15, 2014, NII Holdings, Inc. and eight of its U.S. and Luxembourg-domiciled subsidiaries filed voluntary petitions seeking relief under Chapter 11 in the Bankruptcy Court (Case No. 14-12611). On October 8, 2014, four additional subsidiaries of NII Holdings filed voluntary petitions seeking relief under Chapter 11, and a fifth additional subsidiary filed a voluntary petition seeking relief under Chapter 11 on January 25, 2015. The entities that have filed petitions seeking relief under Chapter 11, which we refer to collectively as the debtors, include Nextel International (Services), Ltd.; NII Capital Corp.; NII Aviation, Inc.; NII Funding Corp.; NII Global Holdings, Inc.; NII International Telecom S.C.A.; NII International Holdings S.à r.l.; NII International Services S.à r.l.; Airfone Holdings, LLC; Nextel International (Uruguay), LLC; McCaw International (Brazil), LLC; NII Mercosur, LLC; and NIU Holdings LLC. The debtors continue to operate as "debtors-in-possession" under the jurisdiction of the Bankruptcy Court and in accordance with the applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code and orders of the Bankruptcy Court. The Company's other subsidiaries, including its operating subsidiaries, are not debtors in the Chapter 11 case. As a result of the bankruptcy proceedings, the pending litigation against the debtors is stayed. Subject to certain exceptions and approval by the Bankruptcy Court, during the Chapter 11 proceedings, no party can take further actions to recover pre-petition claims against the Company.

In addition, we are subject to other claims and legal actions that may arise in the ordinary course of business. We do not believe that any of these pending claims or legal actions will have a material effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations or cash flows.

Note 9. Income Taxes

The realization of deferred tax assets is dependent on the generation of future taxable income sufficient to realize our tax loss carryforwards and other tax deductions. Valuation allowances are required to be recognized on deferred tax assets unless it is determined that it is “more-likely-than-not” that the asset will be realized. In 2014, we recorded full valuation allowances on the deferred tax assets of our foreign operating companies, our U.S. parent company and subsidiaries and our foreign holding companies due to substantial negative evidence such as the recent history of cumulative losses and the projected losses for 2015 and subsequent years. We maintained this same valuation allowance position through the first quarter of 2015.

Note 10. Segment Reporting

We have determined our reportable segments based on our method of internal reporting, which disaggregates our business by geographic location. We evaluate performance of these segments and provide resources to them based on operating income before depreciation, amortization and impairment and restructuring charges, which we refer to as segment earnings. Our reportable segments are: (1) Brazil, (2) Mexico and (3) Argentina.

Note 11. Condensed Consolidating Financial Statements

In 2011, we issued $1.45 billion in aggregate principal amount of our 7.625% senior notes due 2021. In addition, during 2009, we issued senior notes totaling $1.3 billion in aggregate principal amount comprised of our 10.0% senior notes due 2016 and our 8.875% senior notes due 2019. All of these senior notes are senior unsecured obligations of NII Capital Corp., our wholly-owned domestic subsidiary, and are guaranteed on a senior unsecured basis by NII Holdings, Inc. and all of its current and future first tier and domestic restricted subsidiaries, other than NII Capital Corp. No foreign subsidiaries will guarantee the senior notes unless they are first tier subsidiaries of NII Holdings, Inc. These guarantees are full and unconditional, as well as joint and several.

In connection with the issuance of the notes and the guarantees thereof, we are required to provide certain condensed consolidating financial information. Included in the tables below are condensed consolidating balance sheets as of March 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014, as well as condensed consolidating statements of comprehensive loss for the three months ended March 31, 2015 and 2014 and condensed consolidating statements of cash flows for the three months ended March 31, 2015 and 2014, of: (a) the parent company, NII Holdings, Inc.; (b) the subsidiary issuer, NII Capital Corp.; (c) the guarantor subsidiaries on a combined basis; (d) the non-guarantor subsidiaries on a combined basis; (e) consolidating adjustments; and (f) NII Holdings, Inc. and subsidiaries on a consolidated basis.

Note 12. Subsequent Event

On January 26, 2015, NII Holdings, Inc. and certain of its subsidiaries entered into a purchase and sale agreement with an indirect subsidiary of AT&T for the sale of Nextel Mexico for a purchase price of $1.875 billion in cash, less Nextel Mexico's outstanding debt, net of its cash balances on the closing date, and subject to other specified adjustments. On April 30, 2015, the sale of Nextel Mexico was completed. After deducting Nextel Mexico's outstanding indebtedness, net of its cash balances, and applying estimates of other specified purchase price adjustments at closing, we received $1.448 billion in net proceeds, including $187.5 million in proceeds that were placed into escrow to secure specified indemnity obligations. We used a portion of the net proceeds to repay the $350.0 million in outstanding loans under the DIP loan agreement we entered into in March 2015. As a result of this repayment, we expect to record $10.6 million in interest expense during the second quarter of 2015 in connection with the recognition of the unamortized discount and deferred financing costs related to this loan.

As of March 31, 2015, as the result of pending regulatory approvals, we determined that the sale of Nextel Mexico was not probable and therefore did not account for Nextel Mexico as a discontinued operation in this quarterly report on Form 10-Q. Assuming we had accounted for Nextel Mexico as a discontinued operation in the first quarter of 2015, our consolidated total assets would have included $1,630.0 million in assets held for sale as of March 31, 2015, and our consolidated results of operations for the three months ended March 31, 2015 would have been as follows (in thousands):

Operating revenues	$ 462,455

Introduction

The following is a discussion and analysis of:

- our consolidated financial condition as of March 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014 and our consolidated results of operations for the three-month periods ended March 31, 2015 and 2014; and
- significant factors which we believe could affect our prospective financial condition and results of operations.

Our discussion of our consolidated financial condition as of March 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014 and our consolidated results of operations for the three-month periods ended March 31, 2015 and 2014 include the results of our operations in Mexico that we sold to an indirect subsidiary of AT&T, Inc., or AT&T, on April 30, 2015. Our discussion of significant factors which we believe could affect our prospective financial results and the description of our business below take into consideration the completion of that sale.

You should read this discussion in conjunction with our 2014 annual report on Form 10-K and the amendments to that annual report, including, but not limited to, the discussion regarding our critical accounting policies and estimates, as described below. Historical results may not indicate future performance. See "Forward-Looking and Cautionary Statements" and "Item 1A. — Risk Factors" in our 2014 annual report on Form 10-K for risks and uncertainties that may impact our future performance.

We refer to our operating companies by the countries in which they operate, such as Nextel Brazil, Nextel Mexico and Nextel Argentina.

Business Update

Chapter 11 Proceedings. On September 15, 2014, NII Holdings, Inc. and eight of its U.S. and Luxembourg-domiciled subsidiaries, including NII Capital Corp. and NIIT filed voluntary petitions seeking relief under Chapter 11 in the Bankruptcy Court. Since September 15, 2014, five additional subsidiaries of NII Holdings, Inc. have filed voluntary petitions seeking relief under Chapter 11, with four subsidiaries filing on October 8, 2014 and one subsidiary filing on January 25, 2015. The debtor entities continue to operate as "debtors-in-possession" under the jurisdiction of the Bankruptcy Court and in accordance with the applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code and orders of the Bankruptcy Court. Our operating subsidiaries are not debtors in the Chapter 11 cases.

As described in more detail in Note 2 to our condensed consolidated financial statements, on March 5, 2015, certain of the debtors, the Consenting Creditors and the Committee reached agreement regarding the terms of the Revised Plan and entered into a Revised PSA that governs the respective parties' obligations in connection with the formulation, filing and solicitation of votes with respect to the Revised Plan. On March 13, 2015, the Revised Plan was filed with the Bankruptcy Court, and on April 20, 2015, the Bankruptcy Court approved the distribution of a related disclosure statement in connection with the solicitation of votes to approve the Revised Plan. The Revised Plan provides for, among other things, the distribution of a portion of the net proceeds of the sale of Nextel Mexico described below to holders of the senior notes issued by NII Capital Corp. and NIIT and for the conversion of the remaining balance of these senior notes into equity interests in the reorganized company. The terms of the Revised PSA and the Revised Plan do not provide for any return of value to equity holders. The Revised Plan is subject to the approval of the creditors in the bankruptcy proceedings and the approval of the Bankruptcy Court.

On March 23, 2015, NIIT received the approval of the Bankruptcy Court to enter into a debtor-in-possession, or DIP, loan agreement with certain lenders who were also creditors in the Chapter 11 proceedings. Loans under this DIP loan agreement were guaranteed by NII Holdings, Inc. and certain of its subsidiaries that are also debtors-in-possession under the Chapter 11 proceedings. On March 24, 2015, NIIT borrowed $350.0 million in the form of a non-revolving loan under this agreement. We received $339.4 million in net proceeds after deducting $9.6 million in original issue discount and lender fees and $1.0 million in transaction expenses.

Sale of Mexico Operations. On January 26, 2015, NII Holdings, Inc. and certain of its subsidiaries entered into a purchase and sale agreement with an indirect subsidiary of AT&T for the sale of Nextel Mexico for a purchase price of $1.875 billion in cash, less Nextel Mexico's outstanding debt, net of its cash balances on the closing date, and subject to other specified adjustments. On April 30, 2015, the sale of Nextel Mexico was completed. After deducting Nextel Mexico's outstanding indebtedness, net of its cash balances, and applying estimates of other specified purchase price adjustments at closing, we received $1.448 billion in net proceeds, including $187.5 million in proceeds that were placed into escrow to secure specified indemnity obligations. We also used a portion of the net proceeds to repay all outstanding principal and interest under the DIP loan agreement discussed above. We plan to use the remaining net proceeds from this transaction to support our operations in Brazil and to fund distributions to specified creditors pursuant to the Revised Plan that has been proposed in the Chapter 11 proceedings if and when it is confirmed by the Bankruptcy Court.

Business Overview

We provide wireless communication services under the Nextel™ brand. Historically, our services were targeted to meet the needs of business customers and individuals who used our services to meet both professional and personal needs. With the deployment of our wideband code division multiple access, or WCDMA, networks in our markets, our target market has expanded to include both business subscribers and consumers who exhibit above average usage, revenue and loyalty characteristics and who we believe will be attracted to the services and attractive pricing plans we offer, the quality of and data speeds provided by our WCDMA networks and the quality of our customer service.

Prior to April 30, 2015, we provided our services through operating companies located in Brazil, Mexico and Argentina, with our principal operations located in major business centers and related transportation corridors of these countries. On April 30, 2015, we completed the sale of our operations in Mexico, and the following discussion of our business reflects the completion of that sale.

We provide wireless services in Brazil and Argentina focusing primarily on major urban and suburban centers with high population densities where we believe there is a concentration of the country's business users and economic activity. We believe that the growing economic base, increase in the middle and upper class and lower wireline service penetration encourage the use of the mobile wireless communications services that we offer and plan to offer in the future. Our WCDMA network in Brazil serves these major business centers and, in some instances, a broader geographic area in order to meet the requirements of our spectrum licenses. We also utilize roaming arrangements to expand the geographic coverage of our WCDMA-based services.

Our original networks utilize integrated digital enhanced network, or iDEN, technology developed by Motorola, Inc. to provide mobile services on our 800 MHz spectrum holdings in all of our markets. Our next generation networks utilize WCDMA technology, which is a standards-based technology that is being deployed by carriers throughout the world. We also offer long-term evolution, or LTE, services in Rio de Janeiro in Brazil. These technologies allow us to use our spectrum efficiently and offer multiple wireless services integrated into a variety of handset and data devices.

The services we currently offer include:

- mobile telephone voice service;
- wireless data services, including text messaging services, mobile internet services and email services;
- push-to-talk services, including Direct Connect®, Prip and International Direct Connect® services, which allow subscribers to talk to each other instantly;
- other value-added services, including location-based services, which include the use of Global Positioning System, or GPS, technologies; digital media services; and a wide ranging set of applications available via our content management system, as well as the Android™ open application market;
- business solutions, such as security, work force management, logistics support and other applications that help our business subscribers improve their productivity; and
- voice and data roaming services outside of our coverage areas.

The deployment and expansion of our WCDMA network in Brazil enables us to offer a wider range of products and services that are supported by that technology, including data services provided at substantially higher speeds than can be delivered on our iDEN networks. Our WCDMA network in Brazil also supports our unique push-to-talk services that provide differentiation from our competitors' offerings. In Brazil, we are currently offering services supported by our WCDMA network in about 260 cities, including cities in and around Sao Paulo and Rio de Janeiro, and in the second quarter of 2014, we launched LTE services in Rio de Janeiro. We also offer service on our iDEN network in Argentina and continue to provide services on our iDEN network in Brazil.

Our goal is to generate higher revenues and increase our subscriber base by providing differentiated wireless communications services that are valued by our existing and potential customers while improving our profitability and cash flow over the long term. Our strategy for achieving this goal is based on several core principles, including:

- focusing on higher value customer segments in our core markets, such as segments that comprise the small, medium and large business markets, as well as certain consumer market segments that value our differentiated wireless communications services;
- expanding our service offerings to meet the needs of a broader range of potential customers, including by offering lower cost prepaid service plans;
- offering a broad array of differentiated services and devices that build upon and complement our push-to-talk services, which give our customers the ability to communicate with each other instantly;

- offering new services supported by our WCDMA network;
- offering a superior customer experience; and
- building on the strength of the unique positioning of the Nextel brand.

Our investments in our WCDMA network and LTE upgrades, combined with the costs of continuing to operate our iDEN network, have increased our costs and negatively impacted our profitability and are expected to continue to have that impact as we incur the costs of our new network while building the subscriber base it serves, but we believe that these investments in our new network are a critical part of our strategy and are necessary to enhance the competitiveness of our service offerings.

We have implemented and will continue to implement changes in our business to better align our organization and costs with our operational and financial goals and the trends in our business. These changes have included significant reductions in our headquarters staff in connection with the reorganization of the roles and responsibilities of our headquarters and market teams and headcount reductions across all of our market operations designed to reduce costs while maintaining the support necessary to meet our customers' needs. We are also taking steps to improve the performance and efficiency of our supporting systems and functions, including implementing improvements to our information technology and related supporting systems and processes, that are designed to improve the overall quality and efficiency of the service we provide our customers.

As part of our efforts to reorganize our business and emerge from the Chapter 11 proceedings, we sold Nextel Mexico to AT&T on April 30, 2015. This transaction follows our sale of all of the outstanding equity interests of Nextel Chile to Fucata in August 2014 and our sale of all of the outstanding equity interests of Nextel Peru to Entel in August 2013, which were implemented as part of our strategy to focus on our largest markets. As a result of these sales, we plan to allocate most of our financial and other resources to our operation in Brazil going forward. While we will continue to support our operation in Argentina, our results of operations and this change in emphasis make it appropriate for us to consider and explore a variety of strategic options for this market, such as partnerships, service arrangements and asset sales in an effort to maximize Nextel Argentina's value.

Critical Accounting Policies and Estimates

The preparation of our financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States requires us to make estimates, assumptions and judgments that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, revenues and expenses and related disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities in the condensed consolidated financial statements and accompanying notes. Although we believe that our estimates, assumptions and judgments are reasonable, they are based upon presently available information. Due to the inherent uncertainty involved in making those estimates, actual results reported in future periods could differ from those estimates.

As described in more detail in our 2014 annual report on Form 10-K under "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations," we consider the following accounting policies to be the most important to our financial position and results of operations or policies that require us to exercise significant judgment and/or estimates:

- revenue recognition;
- allowance for doubtful accounts;
- depreciation of property, plant and equipment;
- amortization of intangible assets;
- valuation of long-lived assets;
- asset retirement obligations;
- foreign currency;
- loss contingencies; and
- income taxes.

There have been no material changes to our critical accounting policies and estimates during the three months ended March 31, 2015 compared to those discussed under "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" in our 2014 annual report on Form 10-K.

Results of Operations

Operating revenues primarily consist of wireless service revenues and revenues generated from the sale of handsets and accessories. Service revenues primarily include fixed monthly access charges for mobile telephone service and two-way radio and other services, including revenues from calling party pays programs and variable charges for airtime and two-way radio usage, long-distance charges, international roaming revenues derived from calls placed by our subscribers and revenues generated from broadband data services we provide on our WCDMA networks. Handset and accessory revenues represent revenues we earn on the sale of handsets and accessories to our subscribers.

In addition, we also have other less significant sources of revenues. These revenues primarily include revenues generated from our handset maintenance programs, roaming revenues generated from other companies' subscribers that roam on our networks and co-location rental revenues from third-party tenants that rent space on our towers.

Cost of revenues primarily includes the cost of providing wireless service and the cost of handsets and accessories. Cost of providing service consists of:

- costs of interconnection with local exchange carrier facilities;
- costs relating to terminating calls originated on our network on other carriers' networks;
- direct switch, transmitter and receiver site costs, including property taxes;
- expenses related to our handset maintenance programs; and
- insurance costs, utility costs, maintenance costs, spectrum license fees and rent for the network switches and transmitter sites used to operate our mobile networks.

Interconnection costs have fixed and variable components. The fixed component of interconnection costs consists of monthly flat-rate fees for facilities leased from local exchange carriers, primarily for circuits required to connect our transmitter sites to our network switches, to connect our switches and to connect our networks with those of other carriers. The variable component of interconnection costs, which fluctuates in relation to the volume and duration of wireless calls, generally consists of per-minute use fees charged by wireline and wireless carriers relating to wireless calls from our subscribers that terminate on their networks.

Cost of handsets and accessories consists largely of the cost of the handset and accessories, order fulfillment and installation-related expenses, as well as write-downs of handset and related accessory inventory for shrinkage or obsolescence.

Our service and other revenues and the variable component of our cost of service are primarily driven by the number of subscriber units in commercial service and the rate plans applicable to, and the levels of usage of, those subscriber units. Our handset and accessory revenues and cost of handsets and accessories are primarily driven by the number of new handsets placed into service, as well as handset upgrades provided to existing subscribers.

Selling and marketing expenses include all of the expenses related to acquiring subscribers to our services, exclusive of costs to subsidize our handsets.

General and administrative expenses include expenses related to revenue-based taxes, billing, customer care, collections, provisions for doubtful accounts, maintenance of management information systems, corporate overhead and payroll, including share-based payments for stock options and restricted stock.

Reorganization items include all income, expenses, gains or losses that are incurred or realized as a result of the commencement of the Chapter 11 cases. These costs include unamortized discounts, premiums and financing costs related to debt that is subject to compromise as a result of our Chapter 11 filing, as well as professional fees and related costs associated with and incurred during the Chapter 11 cases.

In accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the U.S., we translated the results of operations of our operating segments into U.S. dollars using the average foreign currency exchange rates for the three months ended March 31, 2015 and 2014. The following table presents the average foreign currency exchange rates we used to translate the results of operations of our operating segments, as well as changes from the average foreign currency exchange rates utilized in prior periods.

	Three Months Ended March 31,
	2015	2014	Percent Change
Brazilian real	2.86	2.36	(21)%
Mexican peso	14.93	13.24	(13)%
Argentine peso	8.69	7.63	(14)%

Throughout 2014 and continuing through the first quarter of 2015, foreign currency exchange rates in Argentina depreciated in value relative to the U.S. dollar. In addition, foreign currency exchange rates in Brazil and Mexico depreciated in value relative to the U.S. dollar late in 2014 and at the beginning of 2015. The following table presents the foreign currency exchange rates in effect at the end of each of the quarters in 2014, as well as at the end of the first quarter of 2015. If the values of these exchange rates depreciate from current levels relative to the U.S. dollar, our future operating results and the values of our assets held in local currencies will be adversely affected.

To provide better insight into the results of our operating segments, we present the year-over-year percentage change in each of the line items presented on a constant currency basis in the "Constant Currency Change from Previous Year" columns in the tables below. The comparison of results on a constant currency basis shows the impact of changes in foreign currency exchange rates (i) by adjusting the relevant measures for the three months ended March 31, 2014 to amounts that would have resulted if the average foreign currency exchange rates for the three months ended March 31, 2014 were the same as the average foreign currency exchange rates that were in effect for the three months ended March 31, 2015; and (ii) by comparing the constant currency financial measures for the three months ended March 31, 2014 to the actual financial measures for the three months ended March 31, 2015. The constant currency information reflected in the tables below is not a measurement under accounting principles generally accepted in the United States and should be considered in addition to, but not as a substitute for, the information contained in our results of operations.

Subscriber Units in Commercial Service and Average Revenue Per Subscriber

Our WCDMA networks allow us to offer a substantially broader range of services and subscriber units that support voice services, including our push-to-talk services, data services and, in many cases, both. In some instances, we offer customers the option of purchasing services by acquiring the subscriber identity module, or SIM, cards from us separately, providing the customer with the flexibility to use the SIM cards in one or more devices that they acquire from us or from other sources. In addition, certain subscriber units that we offer support two SIM cards, enabling subscribers to seamlessly transition between our iDEN and WCDMA networks on the same device. Because these handsets include two SIM cards and require two contracts, they are reported as two subscribers for regulatory and external reporting purposes consistent with industry practice. Accordingly, each of these dual SIM handsets that are provisioned with two separate SIM cards is included in the table below as two "Subscriber Units in Commercial Service."

We use the term "subscriber unit," which we also refer to as a subscriber, to represent an active SIM card, which is the level at which we have tracked and will continue to track subscribers. The table below provides an overview of our subscriber units in commercial service on both our iDEN and WCDMA networks in the countries indicated as of December 31, 2014 and as of and for the three months ended March 31, 2015.

	Brazil	Mexico	Argentina	Total

The following table shows our customer turnover rates for subscribers on both our iDEN and WCDMA networks in the countries indicated for the three months ended March 31, 2015.

	Brazil	Mexico	Argentina	Total
Total customer turnover (1)	3.10%	3.77%	4.25%	3.55%
iDEN customer turnover	3.19%	4.62%	4.25%	3.81%
WCDMA customer turnover	2.97%	3.44%	—	3.22%

(1) Customer turnover is calculated by dividing subscriber deactivations for the period by the average number of subscriber units during that period.

The following table shows our average revenue per subscriber, or ARPU, on both our iDEN and WCDMA networks in the countries indicated for each of the quarters in 2014, as well as for the first quarter of 2015. The ARPU details included below are presented in U.S. dollars and therefore include the impact of changes in foreign currency exchange rates.

NM — Not Meaningful

We define segment earnings (losses) as operating loss before depreciation, amortization and impairment and restructuring charges. Consolidated segment losses decreased $37.5 million, or 64%, from the first quarter of 2014 to the same period in 2015 and include the results of operations of our Brazil, Mexico, Argentina and Corporate segments, which are discussed individually below.

In the first quarter of 2015, we continued to experience deteriorating financial and operational results as a result of, among other factors, the economic and competitive environments in our markets and declining local currency values in all of our markets. From the first quarter of 2014 to the first quarter of 2015, our operating revenues decreased 20% on a reported basis, and 7% on a constant currency basis, as the result of a decrease in average revenue per subscriber in both local currency and in U.S. dollars, which was due in part to an increase in the number of subscribers in Mexico that purchased services under lower cost prepaid service plans. The decrease in average revenue per subscriber was partially offset by increased revenues resulting from a 2% increase in our consolidated subscriber base from March 31, 2014 to March 31, 2015. To partially mitigate the decline in our revenues, we have implemented a number of measures designed to reduce our costs, including significant headcount reductions at the corporate level and in our markets. As a result of these cost reductions, lower handset subsidies and declining local currency values, our operating loss decreased $47.5 million, or 22%, from the first quarter of 2014 to the same period in 2015.

1. Impairment and restructuring charges

Consolidated impairment and restructuring charges recognized in the first quarter of 2015 primarily consisted of non-cash asset impairment charges related to the shutdown or abandonment of transmitter and receiver sites in Brazil and severance costs incurred in Brazil resulting from the separation of employees in an effort to streamline our organizational structure and reduce general and administrative expenses.

2. Interest expense, net

In accordance with the U.S. Bankruptcy Code, subsequent to September 15, 2014, we have not accrued interest on any series of our senior notes as we do not believe it is probable of being treated as an allowed claim in the Chapter 11 cases. As a result, consolidated net interest expense decreased $83.5 million, or 60%, on a reported basis, and 58% on a constant currency basis, from the first quarter of 2014 to the same period in 2015.

3. Foreign currency transaction losses, net

Foreign currency transaction losses of $93.4 million during the first quarter of 2015 were largely the result of the impact of the depreciation in the value of the Brazilian real relative to the U.S. dollar on Nextel Brazil's U.S. dollar-denominated net liabilities.

4. Other income (expense), net

Consolidated other income, net of $9.9 million for the first quarter of 2015 primarily relates to gains on the exercise of foreign currency options in Brazil that are used to manage the foreign currency exposure associated with the forecasted purchase of handsets and other U.S. dollar-denominated payments.

5. Reorganization items

Reorganization items of $13.6 million during the first quarter of 2015 were related to professional fees and other costs related to our Chapter 11 filing.

6. Income tax provision

In 2014, we recorded full valuation allowances on the deferred tax assets of our foreign operating companies, our U.S. parent company and subsidiaries and our foreign holding companies due to substantial negative evidence such as the recent history of cumulative losses and the projected losses for 2015 and subsequent years. We maintained this same valuation allowance position through the first quarter of 2015.

The average value of the Brazilian real depreciated by 21% relative to the U.S. dollar during the first quarter of 2015 compared to the average value that prevailed during the same period in 2014. As a result, the components of Nextel Brazil's results of operations for the three months ended March 31, 2015, after translation into U.S. dollars, reflect significantly lower revenues and expenses in U.S. dollars than would have occurred if the Brazilian real had not depreciated relative to the U.S. dollar. If the value of the Brazilian real remains at current levels or depreciates relative to the U.S. dollar, Nextel Brazil's future reported results of operations for 2015 will be adversely affected relative to its reported results of operations for 2014.

Nextel Brazil represented 48% of our consolidated operating revenues for the first quarters of both 2015 and 2014, and its subscribers comprised 47% of our total subscriber base as of both March 31, 2015 and 2014. Nextel Brazil began offering a full range of voice and data services on its WCDMA network in late 2013 and experienced substantial subscriber growth and higher average revenue per subscriber on its WCDMA network in the first quarter of 2015 compared to the same period in 2014. Nextel Brazil continues to offer services on its iDEN network, which does not support data services that are competitive with the higher speed data services offered by its competitors or available on its WCDMA network, and as a result, has had to offer iDEN service plans with lower average revenues per subscriber to retain and attract subscribers on its iDEN network and offer incentives to transition those subscribers to services on its WCDMA network. Despite these efforts, Nextel Brazil has experienced net subscriber losses on its iDEN network, and we expect that these losses will continue. As of March 31, 2015, Nextel Brazil's WCDMA-based average revenue per subscriber for combined voice and data plans was higher than its iDEN-based average revenue per subscriber.

During the first quarter of 2015, Nextel Brazil continued to invest in the development of its WCDMA network and in its LTE upgrade in Rio de Janeiro both to meet its regulatory obligations and to improve the capacity of its network. Nextel Brazil implemented cost reductions in overall operating expenses, which resulted in a segment earnings margin of 1% in the first quarter of 2015 compared to a segment loss margin of 6% in the first quarter of 2014. Nextel Brazil's capital expenditures were $14.8 million for the first three months of 2015, which represented 55% of our consolidated capital expenditures, compared to 58% of our consolidated capital expenditures in the first three months of 2014, and a 78% decline in capital expenditures from the first quarter of 2014. Nextel Brazil recognized segment earnings of $3.5 million in the first quarter of 2015 compared to segment losses of $29.1 million in the first quarter of 2014 as a result of the following:

1. Service and other revenues

The $85.1 million, or 20%, decrease in service and other revenues on a reported basis in the first quarter of 2015 compared to the same period in 2014 is primarily a result of the impact of weaker foreign currency exchange rates on our reported results. On a constant currency basis, Nextel Brazil's service and other revenues decreased 3% in the first quarter of 2015 compared to the same period in 2014.

As discussed above, Nextel Brazil's WCDMA subscriber base grew from 0.7 million subscribers at the end of the first quarter of 2014 to 2.0 million subscribers at the end of the first quarter of 2015. In addition, Nextel Brazil's WCDMA-based average revenue per subscriber increased from $20 in the first quarter of 2014 to $26 in the first quarter of 2015, which represented a $114.0 million increase in Nextel Brazil's WCDMA-based service and other revenues from the first quarter of 2014 to the same period in 2015. This growth in Nextel Brazil's WCDMA subscriber base was offset by a decrease in its iDEN subscriber base from 3.5 million subscribers at the end of the first quarter of 2014 to 2.4 million subscribers at the end of the first quarter of 2015, and its iDEN-based average revenue per subscriber decreased from $32 in the first quarter of 2014 to $21 in the first quarter of 2015. These changes resulted in a $199.1 million decrease in Nextel Brazil's iDEN-based service and other revenues in the first quarter of 2015 compared to the same period in 2014.

2. Handset and accessory net subsidy

The $43.3 million, or 57%, decrease in handset and accessory net subsidy on a reported basis from the first quarter of 2014 to the same period in 2015 is largely related to a change in the mix of handsets toward less costly smartphones and other handsets and an increased emphasis on service plans under which services are provided to new subscribers using their existing handsets. On a constant currency basis, Nextel Brazil's handset and accessory net subsidy decreased 48% in the first quarter of 2015 compared to the same period in 2014.

3. Cost of service

The $38.0 million, or 23%, decrease in cost of service on a reported basis in the first quarter of 2015 compared to the same period in 2014 is largely due to an $18.6 million, or 29%, decrease in interconnect costs related to the changes in the regulated interconnect cost structure described below, a $16.9 million decrease in managed services expenses related to the insourcing of various engineering activities that were previously outsourced in Brazil and a $11.7 million, or 81%, decrease in service and repair costs. All of these decreases also reflect the impact of weaker foreign currency exchange rates as described above.

In 2012, Brazil's telecommunications regulatory agency approved the transition to a cost-based model for determining mobile termination rates beginning in 2016 and reductions in those rates for 2013 through 2015 as part of the transition to the cost-based rates. The transition rules also provide for a partial "bill and keep" settlement process that applies to the settlement of mobile termination charges between smaller operators like Nextel Brazil and its larger competitors, which further reduces mobile termination charges for smaller operators. The lower costs resulting from this partial bill and keep settlement process, which is similar to the settlement process that has historically applied to termination charges relating to our iDEN services, declines as mobile termination rates in Brazil transition to a cost-based model.

4. Selling and marketing expenses

The $19.9 million, or 29%, decrease in selling and marketing expenses on a reported basis, and 14% on a constant currency basis, in the first quarter of 2015 compared to the same period in 2014 is largely due to lower advertising costs resulting from more marketing campaigns in the first quarter of 2014 in connection with our efforts to increase awareness of Nextel Brazil as a next generation service provider, as well as a decrease in commissions earned by both sales personnel and third party dealers. All of these decreases also reflect the impact of weaker foreign currency exchange rates as described above.

5. General and administrative expenses

The $16.6 million, or 12%, decrease in general and administrative expenses on a reported basis from the first quarter of 2014 to the same period in 2015 is primarily due to lower payroll costs related to fewer general and administrative personnel resulting from a reduction in force, lower customer care expenses and a decrease in revenue-based taxes associated with the decline in operating revenues described above. All of these decreases also reflect the impact of weaker foreign currency exchange rates as described above.

On a constant currency basis, Nextel Brazil's general and administrative expenses increased 7% over the same period as a result of an increase in bad debt expense caused by a larger proportion of consumer subscribers in Nextel Brazil's subscriber base at the end of the first quarter of 2015.

Nextel Mexico represented 39% of our consolidated operating revenues in the first quarter of 2015 compared to 40% in the first quarter of 2014, and comprised 32% of our consolidated subscriber base as of March 31, 2015 compared to 33% as of March 31, 2014.

In 2014, Nextel Mexico experienced deteriorating financial and operational results mostly related to the economic and competitive environments in Mexico. Nextel Mexico also experienced higher iDEN customer turnover and was not able to effectively offset the loss of iDEN subscribers with new WCDMA subscribers, resulting in a 1% reduction in Nextel Mexico's ending subscriber base from March 31, 2014 to March 31, 2015. In addition, some of Nextel Mexico's iDEN subscribers migrated to lower rate service plans. Furthermore, a significant portion of Nextel Mexico's subscriber base as of March 31, 2015 represented subscribers who are utilizing prepaid service plans that generate lower average monthly revenues per subscriber unit. These factors contributed to the 22% decline in Nextel Mexico's service and other revenues and a 23% decline in its average revenue per subscriber on a reported basis in the first quarter of 2015 compared to the same period in 2014. On a constant currency basis, Nextel Mexico's service and other revenues decreased 12%, and its average revenue per subscriber decreased 13%, in the first quarter of 2015 compared to the same period in 2014.

Nextel Mexico has taken and continues to take actions designed to improve its WCDMA network performance and the quality of service experienced by its customers, including improving its retail distribution channels, launching awareness campaigns to inform subscribers of the improvements to its WCDMA network and offering new service plans. As a result of these efforts, Nextel Mexico has experienced improving trends in certain operating metrics during the second half of 2014 and continuing into the first quarter of 2015, including a 140% increase in its gross subscriber additions from the first quarter of 2014 to the same period in 2015.

The average value of the Mexican peso depreciated relative to the U.S. dollar by 13% for the three months ended March 31, 2015 compared to the average values that prevailed during the same period in 2014. As a result, the components of Nextel Mexico's results of operations for the three months ended March 31, 2015, after translation into U.S. dollars, reflect lower revenues and expenses in U.S. dollars than would have occurred if the Mexican peso had not depreciated relative to the U.S. dollar.

Nextel Mexico's segment losses increased $6.5 million, or 52%, on a reported basis, and 71% on a constant currency basis, in the three months ended March 31, 2015 compared to the same period in 2014, as a result of the following:

1. Service and other revenues

The $81.9 million, or 22%, decrease in service and other revenues on a reported basis, and 12% decrease on a constant currency basis, in the first quarter of 2015 compared to the same period in 2014 is primarily due to the lower average revenue per subscriber discussed above and, to a lesser extent, the year-over-year decline in Nextel Mexico's subscriber base.

2. Handset and accessory net subsidy

The $49.7 million, or 40%, decrease in handset and accessory net subsidy on a reported basis, and 32% decrease on a constant currency basis, in the first quarter of 2015 compared to the same period in 2014 is primarily due to a strategic change in the mix of handsets toward lower cost smartphones and other handsets due, in part, to a shift in Nextel Mexico's subscriber base to a larger proportion of subscribers who are utilizing prepaid service plans combined with fewer handset upgrades over the same period.

3. Cost of service

The $11.5 million, or 9%, increase in cost of service on a reported basis, and 23% increase on a constant currency basis, in the first quarter of 2015 compared to the same period in 2014 is primarily due to higher interconnect costs resulting from a 39% increase in interconnect minutes of use.

4. Selling and marketing expenses

The $14.9 million, or 25%, decrease in selling and marketing expenses on a reported basis, and 16% decrease on a constant currency basis, in the first quarter of 2015 compared to the same period in 2014 is primarily the result of lower advertising costs resulting from more marketing campaigns in the first quarter of 2014 in connection with the launch of certain WCDMA handsets, as well as a reduction in commissions paid to third party dealers.

5. General and administrative expenses

The $22.3 million, or 29%, decrease in general and administrative expenses on a reported basis, and 20% decrease on a constant currency basis, in the first quarter of 2015 compared to the same period in 2014 is primarily the result of lower payroll costs related to fewer general and administrative personnel resulting from a reduction in force and lower customer care expenses associated with Nextel Mexico's slightly smaller subscriber base.

Nextel Argentina comprised 13% of our consolidated operating revenues in the first quarter of 2015 compared to 12% for the same period in 2014, and represented 21% and 22% of our total subscriber base as of March 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively. As of March 31, 2015, a significant portion of Nextel Argentina's subscriber base represented subscribers who are utilizing prepaid service plans that generate lower average monthly revenues per subscriber unit. In addition, over the last several years, the inflation rate in Argentina has risen significantly, and we expect that it may continue to rise in future periods. The higher inflation rate, combined with the depreciation of the Argentine peso relative to the U.S. dollar, has affected revenues earned and costs that are incurred in Argentine pesos. If the higher inflation rates in Argentina continue, Nextel Argentina's results of operations will continue to be adversely affected. In addition, Nextel Argentina continues to compete utilizing its iDEN network, which does not support data services that are competitive with the higher speed data services offered by its competitors. As a result, Nextel Argentina experienced a higher customer turnover rate during the first quarter of 2015 compared to the same period in 2014 as its customers were targeted by competitors' aggressive offers that include a broader range of services that are supported by competitors' networks.

The average value of the Argentine peso for the three months ended March 31, 2015 depreciated relative to the U.S. dollar by 14% compared to the average values that prevailed during the same period in 2014. As a result, the components of Nextel Argentina's results of operations for the three months ended March 31, 2015, after translation into U.S. dollars, reflect lower revenues and expenses in U.S. dollars than would have occurred if the Argentine peso had not depreciated relative to the U.S. dollar. If further depreciation of the Argentine peso occurs, Nextel Argentina's results of operations would be adversely affected.

Nextel Argentina's segment earnings decreased $8.8 million, or 33%, in the first quarter of 2015 compared to the same period in 2014, and generated a segment earnings margin of 18% in the first quarter of 2015 compared to 24% in the first quarter of 2014, primarily as a result of the depreciation in the value of the Argentine peso relative to the U.S. dollar. On a constant currency basis, Nextel Argentina's segment earnings decreased 23% in the first quarter of 2015 compared to the same period in 2014, primarily as a result of lower operating revenues, resulting from a smaller subscriber base and the decrease in average revenue per subscriber, and higher overall costs resulting from higher inflation rates.

Segment losses decreased $20.9 million, or 46% in the first quarter of 2015 compared to the same period in 2014 primarily due to an $18.3 million, or 42%, decrease in general and administrative expenses largely due to reduced payroll costs resulting from fewer general and administrative personnel following a reduction in force that we implemented in 2014, lower consulting expenses, lower information technology costs and $4.1 million in professional fees incurred in the first quarter of 2014 in connection with our preparation for the Chapter 11 filing.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

We derive our liquidity and capital resources primarily from a combination of cash flows from our operations and cash we raise in connection with external financings and asset sales. As of March 31, 2015, we had a working capital deficit, which is defined as total current assets less total current liabilities, of $68.7 million, a $72.7 million decrease compared to working capital of $4.0 million as of December 31, 2014. The decrease in our working capital resulted from cash used in our operations, partially offset by the proceeds we received from the debtor-in-possession loan in March 2015. As of March 31, 2015, our working capital included $616.7 million in cash and cash equivalents, of which $9.3 million was held by Nextel Brazil, $68.7 million was held by Nextel Mexico, $82.6 million was held by Nextel Argentina and $345.4 million was held by NIIT. As of March 31, 2015, $106.1 million of our cash and cash equivalents was held in currencies other than U.S. dollars, with 36% of that amount held in Mexican pesos and 56% of that amount held in Argentine pesos. The majority of the cash and cash equivalents held in Argentina is denominated in Argentine pesos and remains subject to Argentina's foreign currency controls and to fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates. Due to these restrictions, cash and investments held by Nextel Argentina are not available to our holding company or our subsidiaries located outside of Argentina. As of March 31, 2015, our working capital also included $157.0 million in short-term investments, the majority of which was held in Brazilian reais. In addition, as of March 31, 2015, we pledged $99.1 million as collateral to secure certain performance bonds relating to our obligations to deploy our spectrum in Brazil, of which we recorded $76.7 million as a component of other assets and the remaining $22.4 million of which we recorded as a component of prepaid expenses and other in our condensed consolidated balance sheet.

A substantial portion of our cash and cash equivalents is held in money market funds, bank deposits and U.S. treasury securities, and our cash, cash equivalents and short-term investments held in local currencies are typically maintained in a combination of money market funds, highly liquid overnight securities and fixed income investments. The values of our cash, cash equivalents and short-term investments that are held in the local currencies of the countries in which we do business will fluctuate in U.S. dollars based on changes in the exchange rates of these local currencies relative to the U.S. dollar. Our current sources of funding include our cash, cash equivalent and short-term investment balances. Pursuant to our Chapter 11 filing, our uses of cash are subject to review and approval by the Bankruptcy Court.

The following is a discussion of the primary sources and uses of cash in our operating, investing and financing activities.

We used $170.9 million of cash in our operating activities during the first quarter of 2015, a $314.7 million decrease from the same period in 2014, primarily due to decreased operating losses and lower interest expense as we have not accrued interest on any series of our senior notes subsequent to our Chapter 11 filing.

We used $116.9 million of cash in our investing activities during the first quarter of 2015, primarily due to $97.8 million in cash capital expenditures. Our investing activities provided us with $90.4 million of cash during the first quarter of 2014, primarily due to $306.9 million in net proceeds received from maturities of our short-term investments in Brazil and at the corporate level, partially offset by $178.5 million in cash capital expenditures.

Our financing activities provided us with $335.9 million of cash during the first quarter of 2015, largely due to $339.4 million in net proceeds we received from the debtor-in-possession loan agreement we entered into in March 2015. We used $4.6 million of cash in our financing activities during the first quarter of 2014, primarily due to $19.3 million in repayments under bank loans and other borrowings, partially offset by $14.2 million in borrowings under our equipment financing facilities.

Future Capital Needs and Resources

Over the course of the last several years, our results of operations, including our operating revenues and operating cash flows, have been negatively affected by a number of factors, including competitive pressure across all of our markets, the overall depreciation of the value of local currencies relative to the U.S. dollar, the impact of previous delays in the deployment and launch of services on our WCDMA networks, which combined with competitive conditions to slow the pace of subscriber growth and revenues on those networks, and the increased costs to support both of our networks. These and other factors had a significant negative impact on our results and our ability to grow our revenue base to a level sufficient to reach the scale required to generate positive operating income.

As of result of the factors described above, in 2014, we concluded that we were not able to maintain sufficient liquidity to support our business plan and repay our debts when they come due. As a result, on September 15, 2014, NII Holdings, Inc. and eight of its U.S. and Luxembourg-domiciled subsidiaries, including NII Capital Corp. and Nextel International Telecom, S.C.A., or NIIT, filed voluntary petitions seeking relief under Chapter 11 of Title 11 of the United States Bankruptcy Code, which we refer to as Chapter 11, in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of New York, which we refer to as the Bankruptcy Court. Since September 15, 2014, five additional subsidiaries of NII Holdings, Inc. have filed voluntary petitions seeking relief under Chapter 11 in the Bankruptcy Court, with four subsidiaries filing on October 8, 2014 and one subsidiary filing on January 25, 2015. The Chapter 11 proceedings of one of those subsidiaries were dismissed on April 30, 2015 in connection with the completion of the sale of Nextel Mexico. The entities that have filed petitions seeking relief under Chapter 11 and that continue to be a part of the proceedings, which we refer to collectively as the debtors, continue to operate as "debtors-in-possession" under the jurisdiction of the Bankruptcy Court and in accordance with the applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code and orders of the Bankruptcy Court. Our operating subsidiaries in Brazil, Mexico and Argentina are not debtors in the Chapter 11 cases.

The circumstances leading to our decision to seek relief under Chapter 11, including those described above and their impact on our business, including the uncertainties associated with the Chapter 11 process, in combination with the potential impact of our failure to satisfy certain financial covenants under our existing debt obligations, raise substantial doubt about our ability to continue as a going concern. See "— Future Outlook and Liquidity Plans" for further information.

On January 26, 2015, NII Holdings, Inc. and certain of its subsidiaries entered into a purchase and sale agreement with an indirect subsidiary of AT&T for the sale of Nextel Mexico for a purchase price of $1.875 billion in cash, less Nextel Mexico's outstanding debt net of its cash balances on the closing date, and subject to other specified adjustments. On April 30, 2015, the sale of Nextel Mexico was completed. After deducting Nextel Mexico's outstanding indebtedness, net of its cash balances, and applying estimates of other specified purchase price adjustments at closing, we received $1.448 billion in net proceeds, including $187.5 million in proceeds that were placed in escrow to secure specified indemnity obligations. We also used a portion of the net proceeds to repay all outstanding principal and interest under the DIP loan agreement. The remaining net proceeds of the transaction will be used to support our operations in Brazil and to fund distributions to specified creditors pursuant to the Revised Plan that has been proposed in the Chapter 11 proceedings if and when it is confirmed by the Bankruptcy Court.

Capital Resources. Our ongoing capital resources depend on a variety of factors, including our existing cash, cash equivalents and investment balances, cash flows generated by our operating companies, net proceeds received from the sale of Nextel Mexico, external financial sources, other financing arrangements after we emerge from Chapter 11, and the availability of cash proceeds from the sale of assets.

Our ability to generate sufficient net cash from our operating activities in the future is dependent upon, among other things:

- the amount of revenue we are able to generate and collect from our subscribers, including our ability to increase the size of our subscriber base;
- the amount of operating expenses required to provide our services;
- the cost of acquiring and retaining customers, including the subsidies we incur to provide handsets to both our new and existing subscribers; and
- changes in foreign currency exchange rates.

Due to the combined impact of our filing for Chapter 11 protection, our recent and projected results of operations and other factors, we expect our access to the capital markets in the near term will be limited. See "Future Outlook and Liquidity Plans" for more information.

Capital Needs and Contractual Obligations. We currently anticipate that our future capital needs will principally consist of funds required for:

- operating expenses and capital expenditures relating to our existing networks and the planned deployment of LTE upgrades;
- cash distributions contemplated by the Revised Plan, if it is confirmed and implemented;
- payments in connection with spectrum purchases, including ongoing spectrum license fees;
- debt service requirements;
- obligations relating to our tower financing arrangements and capital lease obligations;
- cash taxes; and
- other general corporate expenditures.

During the three months ended March 31, 2015, there were no material changes to our total contractual obligations as described in our annual report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2014.

Capital Expenditures. Our capital expenditures, including capitalized interest, were $27.2 million for the first quarter of 2015 and $117.2 million for the same period in 2014. In light of the liquidity issues we have faced, we have reduced our investments in capital expenditures, including making substantial reductions to our network development and deployment efforts. We expect these efforts to conserve our cash resources to continue, although we anticipate some increase in capital expenditures relating to investments in our networks in Brazil over the remainder of the year following our expected emergence from the Chapter 11 proceedings.

Our capital spending and related expenses are expected to be driven by several factors, including:

- the amount we spend to enhance our WCDMA network in Brazil and deploy our planned LTE upgrades;
- the extent to which we expand the coverage of our networks in new or existing market areas;

- the number of additional transmitter and receiver sites we build in order to increase system capacity, maintain system quality and meet our regulatory requirements, as well as the costs associated with the installation of network infrastructure and switching equipment; and
- the costs we incur in connection with non-network related information technology projects.

Our future capital expenditures may also be affected by future technology improvements, technology choices and our available capital.

Future Outlook and Liquidity Plans. Based on our current business plan and the other assumptions and considerations described below, we expect that the net proceeds we received from the sale of Nextel Mexico will provide us with the liquidity necessary to fund our business plan, which contemplates continued investments in Brazil and the sale of Nextel Argentina.

Our current circumstances, together with the restrictions in our current financing arrangements and general conditions in the financial and credit markets are likely to make it difficult for us to obtain additional funding for our business. If available, the cost of any additional funding could be both significant and higher than the cost of our existing financing arrangements. Our inability to obtain suitable financing when it is required for these or other reasons could, among other things, negatively impact our results of operations and liquidity and result in our inability to implement our current or future business plans if additional funding is needed.

Our current business plan assumes that customers will find our services attractive and that we will be able to continue to expand our subscriber base on our WCDMA network in Brazil. Our business plan also assumes that we will increase our operating revenues and ultimately generate positive operating cash flows. However, given the factors that have negatively affected our business, the difficulties associated with predicting our ability to overcome these factors and the uncertainty regarding our ability to confirm a plan of reorganization that would allow us to successfully restructure our debt obligations and emerge from the Chapter 11 proceedings, there can be no assurance that we will be able to achieve these results.

In making the assessment of our funding needs under our current business plan and the adequacy of our current sources of funding for the remainder of 2015, we have assumed that the Revised Plan is confirmed and implemented during the first half of 2015 and have considered:

- cash and cash equivalents on hand and short-term investments available to fund our operations;
- the net proceeds from the sale of Nextel Mexico,
- cash proceeds expected to be received from sales of assets;
- expected cash flows from our operations;
- the cost and timing of spectrum payments, including ongoing fees for spectrum use;
- the anticipated level of capital expenditures required to meet both minimum build-out requirements and our business plans for our deployment of our WCDMA network in Brazil and our planned deployment of LTE upgrades in certain markets;
- our scheduled debt service obligations relating to financing that is not expected to be restructured in the Chapter 11 proceedings and cash distributions contemplated by the Revised Plan;
- our other contractual obligations;
- the costs associated with the Chapter 11 proceedings; and
- cash income and other taxes.

In addition to the factors described above, the anticipated cash needs of our business, as well as the conclusions presented herein regarding our liquidity needs, could change significantly:

- if we are unable to confirm a plan of reorganization and emerge from the Chapter 11 proceedings;
- if our plans change;
- if we are not able to satisfy the conditions of the amendments to our equipment financing facilities and other financing agreements that have the effect of waiving certain financial covenants in the existing agreements (see "Maintenance Covenants Under Financing Agreements" below);

- if we decide to expand into new markets or expand our geographic coverage or network capacity in our existing markets beyond our current plans, as a result of the construction of additional portions of our networks or the acquisition of competitors or others;
- if currency values in our markets depreciate or appreciate relative to the U.S. dollar in a manner that is more significant than we currently expect and assume as part of our plans;
- if economic conditions in any of our markets change;
- if competitive practices in the mobile wireless telecommunications industry in our markets change materially from those currently prevailing or from those now anticipated; or
- if other presently unexpected circumstances arise that have a material effect on the cash flow or profitability of our business.

Maintenance Covenants Under Financing Agreements. We are required to meet certain financial covenants in our equipment financing facilities in Brazil and Mexico and in Brazil's local bank loans semiannually, calculated as of June 30 and December 31 of each year.

As of March 31, 2015, we had $689.9 million principal amount outstanding under our equipment financing facilities. In December 2014, Nextel Brazil and Nextel Mexico and the lender under the equipment financing facilities agreed to amendments to those facilities that removed all financial covenants beginning with the December 31, 2014 measurement date and continuing through the June 30, 2017 measurement date. In exchange for that covenant relief, Nextel Brazil granted the lender of its equipment financing facility preferential rights to the amounts held in certain bank accounts, and Nextel Mexico's parent company, Nextel International Uruguay, LLC, granted the lender of its equipment financing facility a pledge on the shares it holds in Nextel Mexico. In addition, Nextel Brazil has the option to defer principal amortization payments in exchange for an upfront payment of 17% of the amounts outstanding under its equipment financing facility as of August 31, 2014. As a result of the amendment of our equipment financing facility in Mexico, we classified the principal amount outstanding under this facility as long-term debt in our condensed consolidated balance sheet as of March 31, 2015. Because of certain cross-default provisions included in our equipment financing facility in Brazil, we classified the principal amount outstanding under this facility as a current liability in our condensed consolidated balance sheet as of March 31, 2015. We do not have the ability to borrow additional amounts under these equipment financing facilities.

On April 30, 2015, in connection with the sale of Nextel Mexico, we repaid all amounts outstanding under its equipment financing facility, and the pledge of shares in Nextel Mexico and the other security interests granted to secure Nextel Mexico's obligations under the equipment financing facility were released.

As of the December 31, 2014 measurement date, we were not in compliance with the net debt financial covenants included in each of Nextel Brazil's outstanding local bank loans. As of March 31, 2015, Nextel Brazil had a total of $284.7 million principal amount outstanding under its bank loans. In February 2015, Nextel Brazil and the lenders providing the local bank loans entered into standstill agreements under which the lenders agreed that they would not seek remedies under the provisions of the agreements related to Nextel Brazil's failure to satisfy the financial covenants in the loan agreements in the period before September 15, 2015 and that further principal repayment obligations due between the signing date and September 15, 2015 would be suspended. In addition, the standstill agreements formally commit the lenders to sign amendments, which we refer to as the second amendments, that implement permanent amendments to the terms of the local bank loans, including with respect to the financial covenants and principal repayment schedule for these loans. Among others, the signing of the second amendments is subject to the following conditions:

- our emergence from the Chapter 11 proceedings on or prior to September 15, 2015;
- the absence of an insolvency event involving Nextel Brazil;
- the absence of events of default other than those waived or suspended in the standstill agreements; and
- the execution of agreements subordinating any amounts due under intercompany loans between NIIT and Nextel Brazil.

If one or more of the conditions listed above is not met, the lenders providing the local bank loans will not be required to enter into the second amendments and will have the right to terminate the standstill agreement and exercise all remedies under the agreements in place, including but not limited to declaring an event of default for noncompliance with the financial covenants and/or nonpayment of amounts due under the repayment schedule. Following the declaration of an event of default, the lenders have the right to accelerate the loans and proceed with claims against the collateral. Because we were not in compliance with the financial covenants at the most recent measurement date and the second amendments have not yet been executed pursuant to the standstill agreements, we classified the principal amounts outstanding under these local bank loans as current liabilities in our condensed consolidated balance sheet as of March 31, 2015.

Concurrent with the execution of the standstill agreements, Nextel Brazil and the lenders entered into amendments to the agreements relating to the local bank loans, which we refer to as the first amendments, under which Nextel Brazil granted the lenders a security interest over amounts held at any given time in certain collection accounts maintained with each lender. These first amendments also increase the interest margin on the loans from approximately 115% of the local Brazilian borrowing rate to approximately 140% of this local rate.

Intercompany Transactions. In the past, we have entered into intercompany loans with some of our subsidiaries for cash management purposes. As of March 31, 2015, these long-term intercompany loans included $2.7 billion principal amount, plus accrued interest, owed by NII Holdings, Inc. to NII Capital Corp. and $644.0 million principal amount, plus accrued interest, owed by NIIT to NII Capital Corp, both of which are considered subject to compromise. These intercompany loans also included $1,123.3 million principal amount, plus accrued interest, owed by Nextel Brazil to NIIT, which is eliminated within the non-guarantor subsidiaries column in the condensed consolidating balance sheets included in Note 11 to our condensed consolidated financial statements. In some instances, these intercompany obligations are subordinated to other third-party obligations of the borrower. We also have intercompany agreements in place to transfer costs and expenses paid by one entity on behalf of others, including intercompany management, royalty and equity recharge agreements. As of March 31, 2015, approximately $77.3 million in intercompany payables were due from our operating companies to NII Holdings, Inc. and one of our corporate subsidiaries pursuant to these agreements.

Effect of New Accounting Standards

There were no new accounting standards issued during the three months ended March 31, 2015 that materially impacted our condensed consolidated financial statements or could materially impact our financial statements or related disclosures in a future period.

Forward-Looking and Cautionary Statements

This quarterly report on Form 10-Q includes “forward-looking statements” within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Statements regarding expectations, including forecasts regarding operating results, performance assumptions and estimates relating to capital requirements, as well as other statements that are not historical facts, are forward-looking statements. When used in this quarterly report on Form 10-Q, these forward-looking statements are generally identified by the words or phrases “would be,” “will allow,” “expects to,” “will continue,” “is anticipated,” “estimate,” “project” or similar expressions.

While we provide forward-looking statements to assist in the understanding of our anticipated future financial performance, we caution readers not to place undue reliance on any forward-looking statements, which speak only as of the date that we make them. Forward-looking statements are based on current expectations and assumptions that are subject to significant risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those in the forward-looking statements. Except as otherwise required by law, we undertake no obligation to publicly release any updates to forward-looking statements to reflect events after the date of this report, including unforeseen events.

We have included risk factors and uncertainties that might cause differences between anticipated and actual future results in Part I, Item 1A. “Risk Factors” of our 2014 annual report on Form 10-K. We have attempted to identify, in context, some of the factors that we currently believe may cause actual future experience and results to differ from our current expectations regarding the relevant matter or subject area. The operations and results of our wireless communications business also may be subject to the effects of other risks and uncertainties, including, but not limited to:

- beliefs and assumptions regarding our ability to continue as a going concern, including our ability to successfully confirm a plan of reorganization that would restructure certain of our debt obligations to address our liquidity issues and allow the debtors to emerge from the Chapter 11 proceedings;
- our ability to attract and retain customers;
- our ability to satisfy the requirements of our debt obligations;
- our ability to access sufficient debt or equity capital to meet any future operating and financial needs;
- our ability to meet the operating goals established by our business plan and generate cash flow;
- general economic conditions in the U.S. or in Latin America, including specifically in the countries in which we operate and in the market segments that we are targeting for our services, including the impact of uncertainties in global economic conditions;

- the political and social conditions in the countries in which we operate, including political instability, which may affect the economies of our markets and the regulatory schemes in these countries;
- the impact of foreign currency exchange rate volatility in our markets when compared to the U.S. dollar and related currency depreciation in countries in which our operating companies conduct business;
- reasonable access to and the successful performance of the technology being deployed in our service areas, and improvements thereon, including technology deployed in connection with the introduction of digital two-way mobile data or internet connectivity services in our markets;
- the availability of adequate quantities of system infrastructure and subscriber equipment and components at reasonable pricing to meet our service deployment and marketing plans and customer demand;
- Motorola Mobility's ability and willingness to provide handsets and related equipment for use on our iDEN network, including the availability of iDEN handsets, particularly in Argentina where we do not have the spectrum resources to deploy a WCDMA network;
- the risk of deploying a WCDMA network, including the potential need for additional funding to support that deployment, delays in deployment, cost over-runs, the risk that new services supported by the new networks will not attract enough subscribers to support the related costs of deploying or operating the new networks and the potential distraction of management;
- our ability to successfully scale our billing, collection, customer care and similar back-office operations to keep pace with customer growth as necessary, increased system usage rates and growth or to successfully deploy new systems that support those functions;
- future legislation or regulatory actions relating to our services, other wireless communications services or telecommunications generally and the costs and/or potential customer impacts of compliance with regulatory mandates;
- the ability to achieve and maintain market penetration and average subscriber revenue levels sufficient to provide financial viability to our network business;
- the quality and price of similar or comparable wireless communications services offered or to be offered by our competitors, including providers of cellular services and personal communications services;
- market acceptance of our new service offerings;
- equipment failure, natural disasters, terrorist acts or other breaches of network or information technology security; and
- other risks and uncertainties described in our 2014 annual report on Form 10-K, including in Part I, Item 1A. "Risk Factors," in this quarterly report and, from time to time, in our reports filed with the SEC.

Item 3. Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures About Market Risk

During the three months ended March 31, 2015, there were no material changes to our market risk policies or our market risk sensitive instruments and positions as described in our annual report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2014.

Item 4. Controls and Procedures

Disclosure Controls and Procedures

We maintain disclosure controls and procedures that are designed to ensure that information required to be disclosed by us in the reports that we file or submit under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, is recorded, processed, summarized and reported within the time periods required by the Securities and Exchange Commission, or the SEC, and that such information is accumulated and communicated to the Company's management, including our chief executive officer and chief financial officer, as appropriate to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure.

As of March 31, 2015, an evaluation of the effectiveness of the design and operation of our disclosure controls and procedures was carried out under the supervision and with the participation of our management teams in the United States and in our operating companies, including our chief executive officer and chief financial officer. Based on this evaluation, our chief executive officer and chief financial officer concluded that our disclosure controls and procedures were not effective due to a material weakness in the Company's internal control over financial reporting in our Brazil segment. The material weakness we identified, which is more fully described in "Item 9A. Controls and Procedures" of our annual report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2014, relates to an aggregation of control deficiencies in Brazil resulting from Nextel Brazil's failure to establish an effective control environment and monitoring activities, including an organization structure with sufficiently trained resources where supervisory roles, responsibilities and monitoring activities are aligned with our financial reporting objectives. Our remediation efforts related to this material weakness are ongoing.

Changes in Internal Control over Financial Reporting

There have been no changes in the Company's internal control over financial reporting during the most recently completed fiscal quarter that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, the Company's internal control over financial reporting.

The sale of Nextel Mexico was completed on April 30, 2015, and we are currently evaluating the impact this sale will have on the Company's internal control over financial reporting in future periods. This evaluation includes examining the level of precision at which controls in our remaining segments must operate in order to prevent or detect a material misstatement in light of the decrease in the size of our operations.

PART II - OTHER INFORMATION

Item 1. Legal Proceedings

Securities Litigation. On March 4, 2014, a purported class action lawsuit was filed against the Company, NII Capital Corp. and certain of the Company's current and former directors and executive officers in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia on behalf of a putative class of persons who purchased or otherwise acquired the securities of the Company or NII Capital Corp. between February 25, 2010 and February 27, 2014. The lawsuit is captioned In re NII Holdings, Inc. Securities Litigation, Case Number 14-CV-227. On July 18, 2014, the parties that have been designated as the lead plaintiffs in the lawsuit filed a second amended complaint against only NII Holdings and three current and former officers, which generally alleges that the defendants made false or misleading statements or concealed material adverse information about the Company's financial condition and operations in violation of Section 10(b), Rule 10b-5 and Section 20(a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. The complaint seeks class certification and unspecified damages, fees and injunctive relief. On September 22, 2014, the judge issued an order staying all proceedings against the Company following the Company's filing of its petition for relief under Chapter 11. On October 6, 2014, the Company's and the individual defendants' motion to dismiss was denied, and the case is currently continuing as to the remaining individual defendants. On November 3, 2014, at the request of the parties, the court ordered that the case against the three individual defendants be stayed indefinitely, and on January 7, 2015, the court extended the stay until the earlier of May 22, 2015 or the effective date of a plan of reorganization. The Company and the named individuals will continue to vigorously defend themselves in this matter.

Chapter 11 Proceedings. On September 15, 2014, NII Holdings, Inc. and eight of its U.S. and Luxembourg-domiciled subsidiaries filed voluntary petitions seeking relief under Chapter 11 in the Bankruptcy Court (Case No. 14-12611). On October 8, 2014, four additional subsidiaries of NII Holdings filed voluntary petitions seeking relief under Chapter 11, and a fifth additional subsidiary filed a voluntary petition seeking relief under Chapter 11 on January 25, 2015. The entities that have filed petitions seeking relief under Chapter 11, which we refer to collectively as the debtors, include Nextel International (Services), Ltd.; NII Capital Corp.; NII Aviation, Inc.; NII Funding Corp.; NII Global Holdings, Inc.; NII International Telecom S.C.A.; NII International Holdings S.à r.l.; NII International Services S.à r.l.; Airfone Holdings, LLC; Nextel International (Uruguay), LLC; McCaw International (Brazil), LLC; NII Mercosur, LLC; and NIU Holdings LLC. The debtors continue to operate as "debtors-in-possession" under the jurisdiction of the Bankruptcy Court and in accordance with the applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code and orders of the Bankruptcy Court. The Company's other subsidiaries, including its operating subsidiaries, are not debtors in the Chapter 11 case. As a result of the bankruptcy proceedings, the pending litigation against the debtors is stayed. Subject to certain exceptions and approval by the Bankruptcy Court, during the Chapter 11 proceedings, no party can take further actions to recover pre-petition claims against the Company.

In addition, we are subject to other claims and legal actions that may arise in the ordinary course of business. We do not believe that any of these pending claims or legal actions will have a material effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations or cash flows.

For information on our various loss contingencies, see Note 8 to our condensed consolidated financial statements above.
